Sacramento City schools launch 'Safe Haven' campaign to protect undocumented students

SACRAMENTO, CA—The Sacramento City Unified School District (SCUSD) today announced the launch of a campaign to protect its undocumented students and staff amid growing fears of deportation in immigrant communities. The campaign is the first of its kind in California and is the next step in SCUSD's national leadership on protecting and standing up for undocumented students and their families. District leaders were joined today by State Assemblymember Jim Cooper, County Supervisor

With today's announcement, SCUSD is taking further steps to ensure that undocumented students, staff and families are aware of their rights
