Within the Student Advisory Council, they have organized two initiatives planned for the year: the evaluation of sex education in schools and the establishment of care closets to provide clothing for students in need in our District schools. She also reported that she and her fellow students feel that there is an utter lack of administrative accountability and proper leadership which has been culminating over the past three and a half years that she has been at C. Information

9.1 Special Education Update (Christine Baeta, Judy Elliot, and Becky Bryant)

Chief Academic Officer Christine Baeta began the presentation which went over the District's core value and guiding principle, background of the Council of Great City School (CGCS) Report, some current realities, critical components of a multi-tiered system of support (MTSS) system design, current and planned work, some comparative data, the California Collaborative for Educational Excellence (CCEE) partnership, focus of support, an overview of the Special Education budget, Special Education trends, expenditures, revenues, state funding, and next steps. Chief Business Officer Rose Ramos gave an overview on the Special Education budget, David Gordon of the Sacramento County Office of Education are comprised of principals across the District and a wide variety of central office staff. Member Woo asked if the principals represent more than the 25 sites that will be part of year one. Ms. Baeta replied that we do not have all 25 schools formally identified. The principals invited are the ones that have been participating in the MTSS work groups.

Member Vang thanked staff, advocates, and parents present. She expressed that she is excited about the work and asked for more information on the advocacy plan for funding. President Ryan suggested the Superintendent speak about large urban school districts that are working together with a shared agenda of state advocacy both with the administration and legislature on special education funding. Superintendent Aguilar said they have had conversations with our entire delegation of elected officials at the state capitol about increasing funding around special education. In addition, we have also signed onto a request from several large urban school districts asking for meeting with Governor Newsom specifically on this topic as well to make sure that we are addressing what's. Ramos mentioned in terms of just the increased costs that are coming to us. We are obligated to these costs and commit to providing services to our students. There are a variety of things that are shaping up as the legislature just convened. Member Woo asked if there are any ideas on how to enhance federal funding. He noted that they give us about eleven percent, although under the law they are supposed to give us 40 percent. He said he will probably be back in Washington D. C. in March, and that would be the time to advocate for this if there are any ideas.

President Ryan brought up the problem of special education students being moved year after year from one school to the next to be able to get appropriate services. She asked Dr. Elliot what we could do to make structural changes to end this practice. Superintendent Aguilar interjected that he did not want to keep anyone at the meeting too much longer and expressed gratitude to Mr. Armelino, Dr. Elliot, and Mr. Gordon for being part of the presentation. He also thanked CCEE for their support.
